About Us

The Integrated Council of Professional Accountants (ICPA) is a premier organization dedicated to developing talent, advancing careers, and promoting excellence in finance. We connect academia and industry, offering skill development, knowledge exchange, and networking for students, professionals, and entrepreneurs.

Bringing together Chartered Accountants, Cost Accountants, Company Secretaries, MBAs, and other finance experts, our platform fosters collaboration, continuous learning, and the sharing of insights to help members thrive in an evolving financial landscape.

The ICPA Network is our member-focused hub for connection and growth, delivering curated content and experiences through print, digital, and in-person channels

Partnership & Engagement: We create meaningful collaboration opportunities between members and strategic partners, offering high-quality, insightful content for a discerning professional audience.

Our Vision

To empower finance professionals as strategic leaders who drive innovation, collaboration, and growth across industries, shaping the future of the financial landscape.

Our Mission

To develop talent and promote excellence by bridging academia and industry, fostering continuous learning, skill development, and meaningful networking within a diverse community of finance professionals.

Need of ICPA

The Integrated Council of Professional Accountants (ICPA) is a future-focused platform built for today's finance professionals—those who are not just accountants or auditors, but strategic thinkers, innovators, and leaders.

In a fast-changing financial landscape, ICPA connects Academia, professionals, and entrepreneurs with the tools, knowledge, and community they need to grow and lead. We bridge the gap between academia and industry, offering a unique space for learning, mentorship, and professional networking.

What sets ICPA apart is our commitment to excellence, collaboration, and impact. Through our vibrant community and the ICPA Network, we deliver curated content, leadership development opportunities, and strategic partnerships that create real value.

Whether you're looking to expand your skills, share your expertise, or shape the future of finance, ICPA provides the platform to make it happen.
